What's in a name?.

Like many others who have asked, you may be wondering how we came about naming our restaurant 'In A Pickle'?

Having left his popular restaurant management job, Tim (the owner) decided to pursue his dream of owning a place of his own. He realized that he had only enough money to survive eight months without an income. Originally hoping that he would be able to buy a full service bar/restaurant, he searched and searched for a place that he might be able to afford.

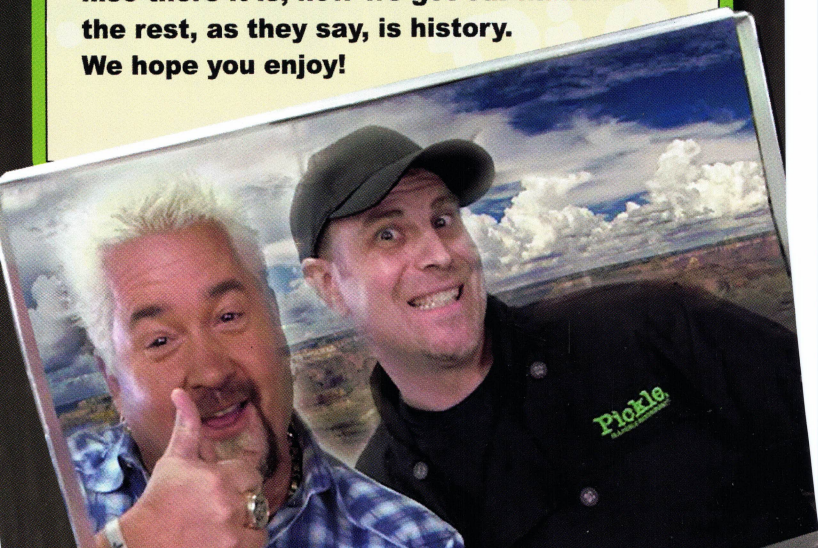

In the ninth month and no purchase. ...broke, and down on his luck he had to evaluate in what direction he needed to head. He sat down on the couch...head in hand and said to himself, "I'm really In A Pickle!"

Not long afterward, he found a wonderful, small, 'hole-in-the-wall' place in Waltham across from the common, which he fell in love with. With a lot of luck, hard work, sleepless nights, fortitude, stick-to-it-iveness, and TLC, "In A Pickle" was born!

In 2013, and almost busting through the walls at the original location, Tim once again took another HUGE risk and moved the restaurant to the famous Moody Street! Now with a Beer & Wine License and double the capacity of the original location In A Pickle is what you see it as today!

Then in 2019 after appearing on 2 other national TV shows In A Pickle was featured on The Food Network's Diners, Drive ins, and Dives (S31E1)...or as Guy Fieri calls it Triple D! Enjoying so much success it makes you wonder if we're even 'in a pickle' anymore? Oh yea...this name was meant for us! We always seem to be in some type of sitch, but we wouldn't have it any other way

...so there it is, how we got our name... and the rest, as they say, is history. We hope you enjoy!
